THE MARKET OF CLEANLINESS

WOMAN BRINGS SUIT AS HER OWN LAWYER

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Prall Argued Court Directs Verdict Against Her.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Prall, widow of William E. Prall, Jr., yesterday argued her own case before Justice Barnard in an ejectment suit to gain title of the Prall property in Sixteenth Street, between K and I Streets Northwest. The Court of Appeals awarded Mrs. Prall one-fourth left tenancy of the estate, with the provision that she should share the property equally with Miss Gladys Knorr, a niece, upon the death of the other life tenants, providing no other children were born to them. Mrs. Prall was not satisfied with this judgment, and instituted proceedings in ejectment. The court directed a verdict against her.

SAVANTS TO TALK BABIES' WELFARE

Congress of Association to Prevent Infant Mortality to Open Today.

SESSIONS END MONDAY

Many of the Most Prominent Physicians and Social Workers of United States in Capital.

Eminent medical savants, representing the country's great universities and its national, municipal and State health services, prominent social workers from most of the larger cities and many of the leading experts and authorities on infant nursing, are assembled in Washington today for the fourth annual meeting of the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality. What is best to do for the preservation and health of the American baby is a question the association will decide between today and Monday evening. The congress will open at the Willard this morning at 10 o'clock and "Infant and Social Work" will be the general topic of discussion.

Miss Fannie Clement, Red Cross superintendent of Rural Nurses of the District, will deliver an address at the session on "Infant Mortality Nursing Problems in Rural Communities." Miss Zoe La Farge, superintendent of nurses, Babies' Milk Fund Association of Detroit, Mich., and Miss M. Frances Kierberger, superintendent of nurses, Babies' Milk Fund Association of Baltimore, Md., will also make addresses at the morning session. At the conclusion of the discussion a round table conference will be held under the direction of Miss Minnie Abrams, superintendent of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago, Ill.

Capital Man to Talk. Dr. J. W. Scherschewsky, of the Public Health Service, will be one of the principal speakers at the afternoon session, when that section of the association, which has as its duty the study of "Pediatric" assemblies, Dr. Scherschewsky will take as his subject, "Heat and Infant Mortality." Special attention is called to the session to be held Sunday afternoon at the Church of Our Father, when addresses will be made by Dr. Mary Sherrwood, of Baltimore, on "The Community and Infant Welfare," Dr. William C. Woodward, Health Officer of the District, and Dr. J. H. Mearns Knox, of the Johns Hopkins University.

Nurses Attending Congress. Among the authorities here are: Dr. Fritz B. Talbot, Boston, Mass.; Dr. Henry L. Colt, Newark, N. J.; Dr. Gavin Fulton, Louisville, Ky.; Dr. H. J. MRS. PATRICIA M. STREET, SUFRAGE LEADER, WHO WAS WEDDED TO RICHARD WIGHTMAN AT EMERSON'S GRAVE.

Double Ring Ceremony Used When Mrs. Patricia Street Weds Richard Wightman in Cemetery.

Suffragists in Washington yesterday learned of the marriage last Thursday of Richard Wightman, a magazine writer, formerly of this city, and Mrs. Patricia Margaret Street, wealthy widow and a prominent figure in the suffrage demonstration held last March.

The ceremony was performed in Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, on the outskirts of Concord, N. H., the couple clasping hands over the grave of Ralph Waldo Emerson. Veneration for the memory of the great philosopher and poet led them to choose his grave as the place for their wedding.

As the Rev. Loren R. Macdonald reached that part of the marriage ritual which deals with the wedding ring, Wightman and his bride clasped hands over the grave. Then, at a word from the minister, each carried out the double ring ceremony by placing a gold ring on the other's finger.

Wightman is well known as a contributor to magazines. At one time he lived in Washington, but for several years he has made his home in Saybrook, Conn., where Mrs. Street also lived. This is his second marriage.

"VOICELESS" SPEECHES GIVEN.

Suffragists introduced a method of presenting arguments for "Cause." Two suffragists made a "voiceless" speech in a store window at 1207 P Street yesterday afternoon. They made this speech six times and crowds of careless loiterers stopped to listen. The speech was made by a succession of broad rotary motions, both young women working together to express a single thought. This new method of convincing the people of the District is an invention of Mrs. Jessie Hardy Stubbs.

The speakers stood on either side of a pole, on which sheets of paper, printed with pregnant paragraphs, were fastened. These sheets they turned, while their hearers on the curb admired a manner of speechmaking that allowed them to skip all sentiments with which they were not prepared to agree.

Typhoon Victim Will Recover.

Word reached the Navy Department yesterday that Hospital Steward George M. Nicholson, reported killed in the cyclone, which swept the island of Guam on Monday, has been found alive and recovered. The collier Ajax, wrecked during the typhoon, will be raised and repaired.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., Nov. 13, 1913. Unsettled weather with local rains will continue during Friday in the central valley, the Lower Lake and Southern Upper Lake regions, probably continuing Saturday over much of this area. More or less unsettled weather will also prevail in New England and the Middle Atlantic States, but probably without much rain. Over the middle and southern districts west of the Rocky Mountains rains will continue, and local rains Friday in the Central Plains States will probably be followed by generally fair weather Saturday. In the South and the Northwest fair weather will prevail Friday and Saturday.
